Description:

We start from the Iglesia de Santiago church, the Jardines del Rey gardens and the Puerta de Granada arch in the Antequera town. Then, we leave behind the Dolmens Complex –UNESCO Worldwide Heritage- to go out of Antequera by the Camino de los Almendros way and connect with the GR 7 “Sierras Meditaneas” European Route E-4.

The route gets very close to the Dolmen del Romeral before getting into the low land of Antequera where the farming landscape standouts because of its fertile fields mainly of wheat and sunflower.

After crossing the A-92 motorway through a new bridge, we will take an earthy, straight line surrounded by olive trees and sunflower fields. The route takes us to the Cartaojal village (11.1 km). We shall leave the village at its northern end, but, firstly, we should regain strength and take a break before facing the last part of the route. First, a graded way that will turn into earthy quite soon and which will take us to the Sierra de Arcas hillside. We will go around it by passing by the Cortijo del Barranco (18.5 km) between olive tree fields. Finally, we walk by the Camino de los Arrieros which will take us to the Villanueva de Algaidas town.
